

The Gay Agenda

- Get up in the morning and have a healthy breakfast; it's an important way to start the busy, busy day.
- Get the kids off to school.
- Go to work.
- Take the kids to soccer practice, to their dance recital, and McDonalds for a Happy Meal.
- Do a Google search on “getting a toaster oven for recruiting people into the gay lifestyle,” and send a nasty gram to whomever’s still using that so 20th century Ellen joke.
- Check purported gay people’s music collection for a minimum of 10 songs each by Barbara Streisand, Cher, Tina Turner, and Bette Midler. If minimum requirements not met, revoke their gay card on the spot. No exceptions. What's compassion got to do with it?
- Tuck the kids into bed.
- In your evening prayers, include two things:
 1. “Oh lord, please let straight people keep producing one gay baby in ten,” and
 2. “Lord, save me from your followers. We ask this through Christ our Lord, gaymen.”
